

BeLihiyot

A Mindful Jewelry Company

Be You. Fully. Honestly. Openly.

Hello beautiful humans!

It has been a while! BeLihiyot has taken many turns over the past year/years. There has been incredible growth, both in the business and for me - the artist.

I am understanding what this business means to me. It is funny that 3 years ago I picked the name Be-Lihiyot.

Lihiyot, a Hebrew word that I loved from the moment I heard it. A word that encompasses past, present, and future in different forms. That is one of the most foundational words in the Hebrew language. To Be. To become. To exist. Being... As time has passed I have begun to understand the importance and depth that word holds. It is the most challenging and beautiful thing that we do everyday. We do it mindlessly but it is the key to life. Learning how to Be. Intentionally BEING.

So I have set out on my life - my way of Being. And BeLihiyot continues to mold and form to the new ways I am learning to encompass Being in my own life.

So I have changed. And so has BeLihiyot - but at the core it is what it was always meant to be.

A company around Being

Being joyful

Being sad

Being happy

Being in pain

Being healthy

Being you

Being here

Being present

Being that which you are.

The company aims to share the creative journey of lives filled with Being. With sharing the gifts of the world surrounding us. The people, communities, artists, adventurers, nature, animals, and the limitless love and beauty that is our world.

This is a newsletter of all that BeLihiyot has to offer.

It begun years ago as an artists co-op newsletter and now it is going to have less structure. It will include BeLihiyot shop updates, original artwork and writings by BeLihiyot. Also, since I am creating and living from a studio on wheels, this will also include stories, photos, and narratives from my personal journey. I am hoping to showcase and include as many others as I can! Sharing inspiring journeys, amazing products, and the light and wisdom everyone have to offer!

This is also an invitation to share your light! Reach out to me, PLEASE :) ***

(Here is our new home & silversmith studio!)

So excited to restart this project and take the next step with all of you

Thank you for your continued support, inspiration, and motivation
